NEW CLEW TO THE SLAYER OF PEASLEE

DIE IN HEAT WAVE

HENNIKER, N. H., May 27.—There is a new suspect in the Peaslee murder case. Officers today established surveillance over this man, and a new development in the case resulted in redoubled efforts to find new evidence toward which this latest clew tends.

Those who believe "Silent Gene" Wood innocent of the crime with which he is charged are in the majority here today. Howard C. Peaslee, the murdered man, had a daughter, a Mrs. Parmenter, living in West Hopkinton. J. A. Parmenter, this daughter's husband, said today:

"I believe Wood is innocent. So does my wife. We believe this in spite of the fact that Mr. Peaslee had told us if anything happened to him it would be because he was bad. We don't believe Wood did this."

The man against whom suspicion is beginning to turn was one of several whose enmity toward Peaslee was a matter of gossip.

Joseph A. Donigan, Wood's attorney, has come to Henniker to begin active work for his client. His first efforts will be to throw doubt upon the stories of Miss Ida Barnes and Mrs. Eva L. Osgood, whose word records the charge of Wood being held for the Grand Jury.

LIVED IN FEAR OF WOOD.
Miss Barnes is the woman for jealousy of whom, the State charges Wood slew Peaslee. Donigan will claim she admits her dislike for

Hilman Nelson
Symphony in Green
in Chandler Auto

Miss Hilma A. Nelson celebrated this, the hottest May 27 that Boston has suffered in forty-three years, by appearing as a symphony in green—that made the Back Bay district take immediate and admiring notice.

Miss Nelson is the Boylston street "nods" of engaging appearing and who was reported as probably-to-be-engaged to Byron Chandler. If the latter's wife, Grace Darus Chandler, gets a divorce, Mr. Chandler has since denied this report specifically, on behalf of himself and the lady.

But it is true that Miss Nelson is "very good company" and a "very dear friend" of his.

Miss Nelson flashed across the road in her green today in Chandler's green limousine.

Aviator Lost in Channel Flight Picked Up at Sea

NEWCASTLE, Eng., May 27.—The Evening Mail states this afternoon that Gustave Hamel, the missing British aviator, who was lost while crossing the English channel last Saturday, has been found. According to the Evening Mail Hamel was picked up by a foreign fishing vessel which did not carry wireless. The vessel was driven out of its course by a gale and did not make port until today when it landed Hamel at South Shields.

VERA CRUZ, May 27.—Although reports that General Victoriano Huerta has fled from Mexico City to Puerto Mexico to take passage on the German steamship Ypiranga have been confirmed, they are generally believed.

The reports are borne out by a number of circumstances which indicate that Huerta has finally abdicated after a stormy and brief tenure in the national palace.

El Presente, a Spanish newspaper, prints the following statement today: "General Victoriano Huerta has resigned. He left Mexico City during the night, passing through Cordoba. It was his intention to go as far as Santa Lucrécia on the Isthmus railroad and there await word to pro-

Press Trust Suit Against the North Shore Ice Company

The suit begun by the Attorney General of Massachusetts to break up the North Shore Ice Delivery Company, charging that it is an Ice Trust, was resumed today, the hottest day of the year. The case is being heard before Judge Jenney in the Equity

Court.

The Attorney-General, who is re-represented by Lee M. Friedman, asked that the court revoke the company's charter on the ground that it held a monopoly of the ice business among the North Shore cities and towns, being in fact a combination of the twelve ice companies which had been doing business before the new company was formed.

M. W. Chase, treasurer of the company, was the first witness today.

Two deaths and fifteen prostration.

In Greater Boston had been caused up to 8 o'clock this afternoon by the record heat wave, which continued today with merciless intensity.

The maximum temperature for yesterday of 93 degrees, which was attained at 3 o'clock, was reached by noon today, showing that the second day's heat wave got under way that much quicker after sunrise.

Men, women and children, weakened by the heat and humidity of the day before, had less vitality to offer against the renewed high temperatures against the renewed high temperature today.

At 8 a. m. Boston was the hottest place on the North American weather map, with an official reading of 87. Not even weather stations in the South equaled it. From that reading, the mercury climbed speedily upward, while humanly suffered deeper in tenements.

One death and thirteen prostrations were the toll taken by the heat on the opening day of the torrid wave. Today added one more death and two more prostrations.

In the congested tenement districts of the North and West Ends the streets were like ovens, with no air stirring in the small apartments.

The population—where it did not have to go to labor or school—overflowed into the Charlebank, North End and other parks, seeking what ever fresh air was stirring.

T. H. DEFTING CRITICS, TRACES "RIVER OF DOUBT"

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt, chosen a member of the National Geographic Society, today stood pat on his discovery of a Brazilian river 1,000 miles long, christened by critics "the River of Doubt."

Roosevelt laughed a hearty defiance, remarking:

"I say we put it on the map and I mean what I say. No map has ever yet shown this river. Scientists have said we must have discovered the River Tapajós, or the River Marañon, but the fact is that neither of our party went down one river or some down the other, while we went down a river far beyond them which no mapmaker ever saw."

LARGE AS RIVER.

"If I direct my men where to find this river, and rivers say just what the discovery we have made may be verified, I will be able to present a letter which will state to Mr. Muller the Brazilian diplomat, after he left the group, describing the trip."

After receiving the statements made in his letter to Mr. Muller, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"My organization will send a man to go down the river and direct his letters of introduction and directions that will enable him to find the river and map and sketch it thoroughly, which could not do in detail."

The colonel further said that this "river of doubt," the "River of Doubt," was about as large as the River of the Rhine. He further said that Anthony Fiala of the party went down the Madeira River and that Mr. Miller went down the Tapajós River, while "we" went down another river in between, and it was neither the Madeira nor the Tapajós.

The colonel described in detail the hardships endured in navigating the rapids of the "River of Doubt." During that hazardous trip the boat nearly lost all their food and belongings.

DIET OF MONKEYS.

"We were forced to eat monkey to eat out our rations," declared the colonel. "Don't shudder, for I assure you that after this experience you might leave me in the monkey house without making any mistake."

Roosevelt has had a strenuous visit here, the first since he rode away from the snow and slash in 1905, with the Rio de Janeiro Troop expelling around him. It has included a visit to the Smithsonian to view his trophies of the African hunt; then to the White House for a brief talk with President Wilson; an informal visit to Senator Lodge; and a tour to the Smithsonian to see the collection of Ambassadors Spring, Rio and Jussara, then a dinner at which he met the officers of the Geographic Society; later he dined at the Geographic Society, and at all conferences with Progressive political leaders.

At the instance of several photographers he posed with a group of hartebeests and was snuggled with great enthusiasm.

The usual preliminaries were followed during the visit. The colonel arose while dozens of cameras snapped the moving picture man turned their cranks. He stood with his hat in hand, and with the old smile, while the auto and the President's entourage and the hundreds rushed forward to grasp his hand and greet him.

One old colored man was especially enthusiastic. "They have tried to put me out of the way," he shouted, "but they can't tell you nothing is wrong here," and long after the automobile had disappeared he was still waving on the colonel's "mission."

The Mother of Your Children

Certainly She Is AT LEAST as Worthy of Tender Consideration as the Chauffeur Who Snaps His Fingers at the Speed Laws—Why, Then, the Patrol Wagon for Mothers Who Break PARK REGULATIONS, and a Politic Invitation to Come to Court for the Chauffeur Who Breaks the Speed Law?

Mrs. Florence Bresnahan of No. 290 Talbot avenue, Dorchester, who was arrested in Franklin Park last Friday, and with her two children and her husband, taken to the police station in a patrol wagon, was unable to appear in court when her case was called today. She is charged with having in her possession shrubs picked in Franklin Park. She is ill, and the case went over to June 4.

Some day the Boston statesmen who represent this town on Beacon Hill will do something worth while in the direction of wresting local self-government from the obtuse Republican bosses. Just at present our friends, the Democratic statesmen, seem more concerned about having MORE REPRESENTATIVES at City Hall.

It may be a splendid thing to have the different districts of this city represented in the council at City Hall. IT WILL BE A MUCH BETTER THING TO GIVE THE MAYOR OF BOSTON THE POWER TO NAME THE POLICE COMMISSIONER OF BOSTON, AND THE POWER TO REMOVE HIM FOR CAUSE.

We venture to say that if the Police Commissioner of Boston was accountable to a Mayor—accountable in HIS turn to the PEOPLE—we should not have ONE LAW FOR MOTHERS IN BOSTON AND ANOTHER LAW FOR RECKLESS CHAUFFEURS.

When a Boston policeman observes the infraction of the speed laws he TAKES THE NUMBER of the offending machine. The clerk of one of the courts sends out a POLITE SUMMONS to the OFFENDING MOTORIST.

"Please come to court!" says the majesty of the law to the speeding chauffeur.

HOW DO THEY TREAT MOTHERS?

Out in Franklin Park, the other day, a policeman saw the mother of two little ones carrying some blossoms the policeman believed had been plucked in the park.

A REGULATION OF THE PARK DEPARTMENT forbids picking.

Did the policeman take that mother's address, and was SHE invited politely to come to court?

NOTHING OF THE SORT!

The mother and her two babies were first detained for an hour in the substation at the park. Then they were CARTED AWAY TO THE WEST ROXBURY STATION IN A PATROL WAGON.

If it were not for the feeling that any suggestion to the Police Department of Boston is looked upon in Pemberton Square as something in the nature of lese majeste, or contempt of court, the AMERICAN would be glad to call this matter to the attention of Mr. Stephen O'Meara, asking Mr. O'Meara to let bygones be bygones—his police officers cannot harass us Boston mothers and Boston chauffeurs with equal courtesy and consideration.

Falling such an order from the gifted Police Commissioner, the AMERICAN desires today to express its earnest hope that Boston may shortly begin to live up to the reputation conferred upon the city by Mr. Charles S. Mallon.

In the matter of this apparent police discrimination, AGAINST MOTHERS, it is high time for Boston to be a little "anti."

Pail May Kill Malden Boy.

J. O. Hayden Gerhart, the eighteen-year-old son of Mrs. William T. Gerhart of No. 174 Main street, Malden, may die as the result of a fall in the cellar of the house.

MRS. FEROLA COLLAPSES DEATH-CELL

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mrs. Madeleine Ferola, 37, who died in the Bronx County Supreme Court, here herself with prodigious aid and did not betray the least alarm until she died, when she uttered a specially prepared "death words" in French, just outside the grim walls of Sing Sing Prison. Then she collapsed and was buried.

It is stated that the car by automobile after Justice Davis set the week of July for her electrocution. Mrs. Ferola arrived in O'Connell street in the afternoon, she was convicted last week of slaying her sweetheart, Carmelo Castellan, a young man scarcely half her age.

Warden Clancy and his assistants were astonished at the prompt manner in which Mrs. Ferola was transferred from the Bronx. They had not expected her until today, but quickly made temporary arrangements for housing her.

Calm and cheerful while answering the usual questions put by the warden, Mrs. Ferola was led up two flights of stairs to the upper floor of the old stone house recently occupied by the late Principal Keegan, Cunningham.

Her room was spacious. There was a comfortable bed, a small dresser, a rocking chair and a cheerful carpet. The windows looked out on the Hudson and afforded a beautiful and inspiring view. At Mrs. Ferola's eyes slowly passed from object to object in the room and gazed at the wide expanse of the river she dropped into a chair and burst into tears.

In all essentials it was an ordinary room in a dwelling, excepting that it was fitted up with a grated door that had just been hung in place.

After being questioned, Mrs. Ferola, quite attractive in a neat white suit and black skirt, was permitted to bid farewell to her son and white daughter Marie. The girl, deeply affected, but she quickly brushed aside the tears.

VIOLET COLBY S MARRIED TO J. E. LIGGETT

Another millionaire and stage beauty romance became known today when dispatches from New York announced that John E. Liggett, the Boston and St. Louis banker, who was divorced at Augusta, Me., last March by Margaret Day Liggett, has secretly married Violet Colby Harvey, who divorced J. Clarence Harvey, the comedian, last December.

Liggett and Violet Colby—to use her stage name—kept their plans so closely to themselves that they were married and had departed on a honeymoon trip abroad on the Vaterland before the marriage became known.

Their action on the Vaterland's passenger list gave the news first, but they could not be located on the big liner, as Mr. Liggett had doubtless taken precautions that they should not be quizzed by the ship news reporters.

Violet Colby is the daughter of an excellent Philadelphia family. She went on the stage in 1904 and became a star in only a few years. She and J. Clarence Harvey met, loved and married while they were playing in "The Half Moon" in 1908. Later she became prima donna of "The Merry Countess."

Last February Harvey was reported to have entered a divorce suit for $10,000 against a Boston divorcee for alleged alienation of Violet Colby's affections prior to her divorce.

John E. Liggett is the son of Mrs. Laura L. Hill, widow of the late Governor John P. Hill of Maine. His father was one of St. Louis Liggett's of tobacco fame.

Two years ago he married Miss Margaret Day of Augusta. Two children were born. Last March Mrs. Liggett was granted a divorce in Maine on account of cruel and abusive treatment. Liggett did not contest the case.

Now comes the announcement of Liggett's marriage to Violet Colby.

Bar Scorecards in Providence Saloons

PROVIDENCE, May 27.—"No more baseball score cards in saloons," said Superintendent of Police John A. Murray today, and the prohibition was ratified by the Board of Police Commissioners. "Since there is no law to prevent a minor from entering saloons, the baseball scores are the attraction, and they must therefore be removed," the Commissioners decided.

Violet Colby, the actress who divorced J. Clarence Harvey, and who has been married to John E. Liggett, the St. Louis and Boston banker.

MRS. CASTLE'S APPENDIX OUT; ABSOLVE DANCE

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mrs. Irene Castle, wife of Vernon Castle, both famous dancers, has been operated at the Woman's Hospital for appendicitis.

Dr. Rollin Lee operated. Many friends of the popular young woman who has taught society the new dances, ring up and send flowers and messages of sympathy and all were told the patient was doing well.

"All operations for appendicitis are dangerous," said Dr. Lee, "and Mrs. Castle will not be out of peril before a week at the hospital. She is resting well."

Asked if he believed her condition was due to dancing, especially in the part she took in the strenuous dancing contest at Madison Square Garden last Saturday, Dr. Lee said:

"Dancing has nothing to do with it. She is subject to appendicitis, having had previous attacks—a very severe one, as a matter of fact, in Paris last year."

New Discovery in Astronomy Made

LONDON, May 27.—Professor Percival Lowell, director of the Flagstaff Observatory in Arizona, who is now in London, has received the following cablegram:

Flagstaff, Ariz.—Spectrograms show Virgin nebula rotating. Professor Lowell suggests that the rotation of the nebula in the constellation of Virgo which has been discovered to be rotating is that which closely resembles in form that of the planet Saturn and its rings.

British astronomers are full of admiration for Dr. W. D. Slipher's feat. It is suggested that Professor Lowell's discovery may perhaps shed new light on the origin of the universe.

DENY BECKER WILL MAKE A CONFESSION

NEW YORK, May 27.—Rumors that Charles E. Becker, the police lieutenant convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will confess secrets of the "men higher up" in the police department who have been existing for by allowing victimization of the law, were described yesterday by Becker's counsel as "pure bomb." Becker, his counsel said, would confess to nothing and there would be no activities in his behalf other than the preparation and furtherance of his appeal.

There will, however, be further activities in the case by the district attorney, looking toward the probable punishment of persons who testified at the trial and who are suspected of perjury. District Attorney Whitman, it was learned, will confer with Police Commissioner Woods next Friday relative to the testimony in Becker's behalf by members of the "Strong Arm Squad," which Becker commanded.

It is expected that there may be some interesting that may be also expected that Mr. Whitman will, within a few days, again take to the matter of the confessions of perjury made by Carl Dreaner and William Burwell in the attempt that was made to save the lives of the four "gunners." That "Jack" Sullivan, friend of Becker's and a witness for him, is in no danger of being prosecuted for any reason, also became known.

Two Dead, Another Hurt in Cycle Crash

CHICAGO, May 27.—Edward Bork, owner of a motorcycle store, and Miss Mary Kiernan, seventeen, were killed and Adolph J. Mason was probably fatally hurt early today when two motorcycles collided with an express wagon. Stanley Zwiziel, driver of the wagon, and his assistant were arrested.

MRS. MARGARET J. STANNARD, head of committee which opens Home- keepers' Centre.

A new institution known as the Boston Housekeepers' Information Centre, the purpose of which will be to educate women to regard housework as a dignified and interesting profession, will be opened at No. 19 Chestnut street on June 3.

Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard is chairman of a committee of women from the New England Home Economics Association who are developing the idea of the centre. The other members of the committee are: Mrs. H. D. Arnold, Mrs. Charles F. Williams, Miss J. Agnes Dunham, Mrs. Mary H. Nash and Mrs. H. W. Draper.

"We aim to put women in touch with the things they want to know," says Mrs. Draper. "As the high cost of living increases, women, especially those of moderate means, will realize the necessity of running their house on a budget, and keeping accounts as strictly as in any business."

New England's Greatest Book Sale Closes Friday

Your Panama Canal is an accomplished fact. The victorious Americans have cut the continent in two.

Here is the authoritative book that tells about the greatest thing the hand of man has done.

We agreed to conduct this introductory sale because we felt sure that every American would want to own the book that describes so simply and charmingly the story of the nation's greatest achievement.

Though published but a few months ago over 310,000 copies of this interest-gripping book have been sold. It has taken New England by storm.

READ-APPELTON WEDDING INTERESTS

MRS. L. G. BURNHAM SOON TO ENTERTAIN SON'S BRIDE FROM WEST

Pretty Ellen Baker of West Somerville is prominent among the prospective brides and is being much wooed since the recent announcement of her engagement to Frank S. Cobb of Dorchester.

Miss Baker is an especially popular young woman and several "show-ers" have already been given her. She has been an instructor in the Russell school at Arlington for some time. She is a graduate of the Salem Normal school and has been actively interested in several amateur performances, mostly musical entertainments. She is also a member of the Hope Club of North Cambridge and Somerville.

Mrs. L. G. Burnham of the Somerville family is planning to give her son, Frank Burnham, and his bride, who since their marriage a few months ago have been living in Colorado Springs. This will be the first visit the young couple have made to the East since their marriage. They are to be entertained quite extensively by their many friends both here and in New York.

Announcement has been made that the wedding of Miss Helen L. Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Huntington of Brookline and Charles H. Read, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Read of Brookline, is to take place June 7 at the Junior Church.

An interesting wedding to which many townsmen are attending is that of Miss Helen Lincoln Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Read, and Charles H. Read, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Read of Brookline, is to take place June 7 at the Junior Church.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Dimeson, daughter of Dr. Louis Dimeson of Putnam Manor, to Charles Desmond Wadsworth of Brookline, is to take place June 8, in her home, the Rev. Francis Powers officiating. Miss Harriet Dimeson will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Misses Mary McKee, Mary McKee, Emily Maynard, Ruth McKee and Margaret Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Beale of Boston are at the Curtis Hotel in London.

Mrs. Cobb as Payette Tytus has returned to her estate in Lenox from Quincy, where she was with her mother, Mrs. Louis P. Hovey, who is seriously ill.

ROOSEVELT A PROBLEM FOR THE SPANIARDS

MADRID, May 27.—Court circles here are much disturbed and greatly pained at the prospect of having to receive Theodore Roosevelt, when the former President comes here to attend the wedding of his son, Kermit, and Miss Belle Willard, daughter of the American ambassador.

And even though Roosevelt is a former President, few Spaniards will feel any glow of welcome at his coming. He expects to sail from America in a few days.

Kermit has already arrived here. The wedding will take place on June 11, at the British Embassy Chapel. The ceremony is to be performed by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Watson, rector of the American Church of the Holy Trinity Park, assisted by the Rev. Herbert Brown, of the British Chapel, Madrid.

The maid of honor is to be the bride's sister, Elizabeth, and the bridesmaids will be the Princesses of Thurn and Taxis, Miss Katherine Page, daughter of Walter H. Page, American Ambassador in London; Gilson de Veneris Villiers, of Paris; and Virginia Christian, of Virginia.

This will be the first time in many years that a member of the family of a foreign diplomat has been married in Madrid.

Bryan 'Diplomacy' to Keep Out Arms

WASHINGTON, May 27.—With two steamers bound for Puerto Rico carrying arms to Huerta, which Secretary Bryan declares the "armistice" makes it impossible for the United States to prevent being loaded by the exercise of force, diplomatic appeal to the nations whose flags the ammunition steamers fly will be made to stay the delivery.

Hunt Cambridge Man, Father of 11

Mrs. Peter J. Hughes, of No. 5 Willow street, North Cambridge, and her eleven children are anxiously awaiting news of husband and father, Peter J. Hughes, who left the place he had worked for twenty years four weeks ago and has not been seen since. He has caused that an old injury may have resulted some mental weakness.

Americans Warned Again to Quit Mexico

EL PASO, May 27.—At the instance of the State Department, United States Consul Marion Letcher of Chihuahua has made public a new warning to Americans to get out of Northern Mexico and stay out. American citizens were urged to give first consideration to the lives of employees.

Mrs. Silliman Is Among Refugees

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Mrs. John R. Silliman, wife of the vice consul at Saltillo, has learned of her husband's safe arrival in Vera Cruz. She expects to leave Saltillo with a party of other American women and a Mr. Wheeler of the British consulate.

ELIOT NAMES THREE POEMS FOR CHILDREN

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, who incidentally is famous for his selection of a "Five Poets of Boston" which comprised the best in all the world's literature, now suggests "Three poems every child should know." They are "The Village Blacksmith," "Auld Lang Syne" and the "Waterloo." In the course of an article in the New Religious Education Series, published by the American Unitarian Association, he says: Every child should learn at least three poems in the course of its education.

In order to give you an impression of the actual working of the method, I must enter into a few particulars. Take such a poem as Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith," a very simple poem of universal sentiment, and let the child at an appropriate age commit the whole of it to memory. Then, in the course of the year, ask for it. It is the fundamental conception of religion, the basis of the most fundamental conceptions of the new science of sociology, will enter the child's mind with that of all poetry, a great deal of what we may call information, or suggested knowledge, is conveyed in even a single verse. Take the verse:

"He hears his daughter's voice
Singing in the village choir,
And it makes his heart rejoice.
"It sounds to him like her mother's Singing in Paradise."
Now any child eight or ten years old will take that in, and will, from that time on, be able to recite it. The child who has learned this poem will be able to recite it in the village choir, and the blacksmith had a daughter who was loved tenderly and she was singing in the village choir, and the blacksmith had a daughter who was loved tenderly and she was singing in the village choir, and the blacksmith had a daughter who was loved tenderly and she was singing in the village choir.

Take another poem, very well known to us all, but seldom used. It seems to me, for children—Longfellow's "Auld Lang Syne" (may his tribe increase). There is a poem that is a beautiful picture of some of the best parts of human experience. Take another poem, very well known to us all, but seldom used. It seems to me, for children—Longfellow's "Auld Lang Syne" (may his tribe increase). There is a poem that is a beautiful picture of some of the best parts of human experience.

ROOSEVELT TO OPEN CAMPAIGN LAST OF JUNE

WASHINGTON, May 27.—"I shall be taking my part in the campaign this year. I will have to explain dozens of days if it is an impossible duty to be more than forty or fifty different places at once. I have been asked by Mr. Lewis and Mr. Pinchot to open the campaign in Pittsburgh, June 30, which I am going to do," declared Colonel Roosevelt today, following a talk with fellow Progressives.

The colonel announced he had told Governor Johnson that he would go to California if necessary to help the Progressive ticket and would do all else he could for the party. The colonel was warmly greeted at the Progressive headquarters, where James R. Garfield of Ohio, Senator Clapp of Minnesota, the only Senator present, and numerous Progressive representatives were gathered. He talked with each one of them enthusiastically recalling a number of his past work for the party. Then he spoke formally, particularly praising the Progressives in Congress for their work.

Hold Decision on Down and Out Club Man's Divorce Plea

Judge Wait has reserved decision on the divorce suit of Frank E. Wray, who said he got plenty of exercise mending his own clothes and dodging coffee pots.

He testified that his wife, Elizabeth, kicked him in the back as he was going down stairs with a pail of milk in his hand and a very little girl in the other. He added:

"I am secretary of the Down and Out Club, and as secretary wrote a letter to a woman in Maine. My wife found that letter was all a bluff. I wanted my wife to see it and get a divorce."

BOYLE, CIVIL SERVICE BOSS, CURLEY'S FRIEND, GETS NEW LIFE TODAY

Interesting rumors were flying about the State House early today. One report was that another new message is on the way from the Governor to the House of Representatives, this time a veto of the bill restoring Boyle, Phillips to his old place as a sergeant of the Metropolitan Park.

Members of the Executive Council seem to arrive at an early hour for their regular weekly meeting. It was said that few important appointments were expected. It is known, however, that the term of Charles Thomas P. Boyle of the Civil Service Commission has expired and it is believed that Mr. Boyle will today be reappointed by Governor Walsh.

On the first day of the present month the AMERICAN printed the report that Major Charles H. Cole was Governor Walsh's first choice for adjutant-general, to succeed General W. P. Wood.

Three or four days later, this newspaper printed the statement that Major Cole was distinguished to accept the place, feeling that the time seems when he must buckle down to a career in business.

The State House heard of wonderful waiting has proved successful, however, and "Sham" Cole is about to become "General" Cole.

Only thirteen Democrats in the Massachusetts House of Representatives voted yesterday against a larger Boston City Council—elected by districts instead of "at large"—and the larger Council bill was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 125 to 12.

The bill will be signed by the Democratic Governor of the Commonwealth within a day or two. At the same election in November it will be submitted to the people of Boston. If the people to decide, Boston will thereafter have a Council of fourteen members, representing twelve city districts.

If, on the other hand, the people reject the bill, Boston will continue to have nine City Councilors, chosen at large.

The passage of the bill was a personal triumph for Representative Martin Lomax, of Ward 12, as it marks the triumph of fair play and local self-government. For the last twenty-four Republicans and eight Progressives—elected to the House—voted to support the question of a larger Council to the people most interested.

And the result was another surprise for the Democratic Mayor of Boston, James M. Curley, his Corporation Counsel, John A. Sullivan, and other "Curley" and Good Government Association allies.

Only thirteen Democrats took the "Curley" and voted against the bill, raising the question to the people of the city.

Two of these Democrats come from outside the city. Only eleven Boston Democrats—elected out of forty-two Boston Democrats in the House—went on record against the bill.

These are the eleven Boston Democrats who voted as Mr. Curley would have had them vote, AGAINST the district Council referendum.

Of these eleven, three are from Ward 24, Chapman of 16, Douglas of 15, Hickey of 14.

Bryan Defines New 'Armistice'

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The word "armistice" has a new official Democratic definition. It is a period between battles when the enemy may shoot you up, but you cannot shoot back.

Secretary Bryan says so and describes the present armistice as "an agreement against aggressive movements."

The Mexican Federalists on Sunday fired about sixty shots at our aviators flying over Vera Cruz. This government has made no demand for explanation and has forbidden reprisals. Both the State and Navy departments said today there was "no definite ground for official protest."

Robinson bill, I should reflect the wishes of my constituents."

Presumably the same holds good for Representative Ahern of Ward 24. The colleague, Sanford Bates, is a Republican.

As for the rest, Mayor Curley naturally had the support of the boys who were with him in the fight against J. S. Kelly of 17, and he also had the support of Walsh, Chapman and Wall of South Boston.

Lomax made one of the most effective speeches of his career in the Legislature. If, however, the speaker has any votes, the laurels belong to Representative John M. Walsh, of Worcester, Republican.

The Worcester leader, who has voted with Cox and Cushing so regularly that they have come to be looked upon as a triumvirate in the House, explained his departure in these words:

Mr. Speaker, I trust that this bill may take a reading. And I make this statement, Mr. Speaker, with hesitation and reluctance, because it means that for the time being I am taking leave of you, Mr. Speaker.

When the Boston Charter bill was before this branch in 1909, I was wrapped up in the railroad question. The charter question, therefore, appeared to me to be better I should follow you, Mr. Speaker, or the gentleman from the Eighth Suffolk District (Mr. Lomax), and I elected to follow you as I generally have and generally shall.

In 1911, however, I voted for what was then called the "Lomax" bill and had the great pleasure of seeing my name hung up with some others as that of a legislator who should immediately be relegated to the rear.

Although I take some reasonable pride in the fact that I have never yet been convicted of crime, I am not sure that I am not a little bit of a criminal.

Again, Mr. Speaker, the Charter Guards are out—and I want to differ here for just a moment to call the attention of the Progressive members of the House to the name of Mr. Norton T. Prince, which they will observe, leads all the rest. As the learned specialist who once covered a full page of the Boston Herald to express his fear that the great leader of the Progressives might be actually unbalanced, Dr. Prince's name should have been brought out with Progressive Party legislation.

I regret, also, that on this occasion the titular Republican leader (Mr. Cox) is arrayed against me, and I bid the gentleman a hearty welcome into my class of incoherency. (Laughter.)

He tells us, Mr. Speaker, that there is "no demand" for this legislation, and I am sure that this is so, why so much horror of the referendum which I find attached to the measure?

Mr. Speaker, if this bill passes the House, and time proves that there is no demand for it, it is in Boston to write it into law. We have now to declare my intention to resign my membership in this body if the gentleman (Mr. Cox) will today agree that in the event of a very result he will retire as a speaker.

Mr. Speaker, the issue here is simply itself. It is whether or not we are to govern itself. That is the issue, Mr. Speaker, and on this proposition I desire to can my vote in the affirmative.

I have found myself asking, today, what would be the feeling of the Republicans of Worcester if they were to come down here and, finding the Legislature in the hands of a single party, were continually to be told, "Worcester, do that," in Worcester, by the way, we have ward representation at City Hall.

Why, Mr. Speaker, I am willing to go much further along the line of local self-government for Boston, than this bill goes. I maintain, Mr. Speaker, that the members of the Licensing Board for the City of Boston should be appointed by the Mayor of Boston. And I believe the time is ripe for the passage of the State, "Hands off the city!"

In a word, Mr. Speaker, I maintain that it is not for the good of Berkshire County, or Hampshire County, or Franklin County, to come down here to this Legislature and to attempt to set up for the people of Boston the high particular type of political "trick" which we know exists elsewhere.

There were twenty other brief talks. The galleries were crowded. Representative John L. Cushing, replying to the charge that it was the "polite Mayor, Mr. Speaker, and the people who oppose it, declared:

I have come to the conclusion that if a man in the Back Bay drops in here with a suggestion for legislation the gentleman should not be so polite as to hand it somebody comes up here from that ward, and the gentleman for legislation, the gentleman is a "common politician."

Bates was doing well, with an attack on the bill, until he was frequently used of the word "politician" opened the Lomax game and the Lomax game out.

"I want to ask the gentleman (Bates) through you, Mr. Speaker," said Martin, "if you think that the fact that I am a politician for a number of years under Democratic Mayors, Mr. Speaker, and if, indeed, he was not employed there for that word, before he was old enough to vote?"

"The gentleman from the Fifth Suffolk District is just in the rear," said Bates, "and I want to say—"

But the rest of it was lost in a roar of laughter.

Woman Urges Low Necks for Police

NEW YORK, May 27.—If Dr. Katherine Bennett Davis, Commissioner of Correction, has her way, the police of New York will be seen in white collars.

Seeing Commissioner Woods mop his brow and glance disapprovingly at the mirrored view of his willing collar, she had the temerity to make the suggestion of the new style uniforms to the head of the police.

Miss Davis thinks it is "a crying shame that policemen are compelled to wear soiling collars. V-necks," she says, "would be very much appreciated by the men."

WOMAN'S WATCH COOPER DEATH TRIAL EXHIBIT

WORCESTER, May 27.—A woman's watch, presented in court as an exhibit, played an important part in the proceedings when the trial of Daniel J. Cooper of Upton for the alleged murder of Alfred G. Braden was resumed today.

The watch was the property of Mrs. Walter L. Braden, whose husband, when Cooper is claimed to have been in the room, played an important part in the proceedings when the trial of Daniel J. Cooper of Upton for the alleged murder of Alfred G. Braden was resumed today.

On the day of the murder, October 4, 1913, she said, Braden appeared at her home in an early hour and knocked for admittance. She refused him, she said, because she was inadequately dressed, but noticed that from his hand across the way Cooper stood watching Braden. The latter after a time crossed her garden and disappeared, never to be seen again.

Of Cooper she said she was afraid, because she knew that he carried a revolver. Earlier testimony had established the fact that Cooper had bought a revolver months before and possessed a permit to carry it.

The State's efforts to prove through the fact that Cooper had accepted presents from him and by accompanying him to a hotel in Milford. She denied she had admitted to Mr. Braden before he was gone to Milford with the latter's husband.

Woman Bailiff Says Hot Weather Causes Husbands to Desert

CHICAGO, May 27.—"You see it's this way," said Isabella Carver, bailiff in the Court of Domestic Relations, in an earnest when she said it.

"The Daddy who isn't what might be termed a family man isn't inclined to forsake the domestic duties the months of heat and snow—but in the summer, when he can sleep in the park or most anywhere in the open, he deserts his wife and offspring in a hurry."

Miss Carver was explaining why so many babies are being brought to the Court of Domestic Relations of late. Forty-two were on hand of one time, while their mothers told stories of abandonment and non-support.

Professor J. C. Kingsley of the State Board of Education told every body present right out in open meeting that the mothers who brought their babies as everybody now thinks the new figure.

Right in the midst of the sizzling weather, the Mayor's Commission on the School Committee walked out of the Court of Domestic Relations during the trial of the Cooper-Braden case.

Last night things generally down town were all up in the air and nobody, not even the officially declared class prophet, could possibly have it would all turn out.

Girl Is Prisoner in Chinese Pirate Ship Dungeon for Hour

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Caught in the chains in which old-time Chinese pirates starved, to be accidentally imprisoned for some time in the deep-dungeon of the old Chinese pirate vessel, Ning Po, at Venice, was the odd experience of Jeannette Kinney, a pretty resident of Abbot Kinney, of the beach resort.

Sighting the ancient vessel, the pretty maid wandered apart from her party and soon found herself in the chains of the old Chinese pirate ship. Suddenly noticing that her companions were absent, she tried to throw off her shackles, but found to her dismay that the old lock in some way fastened itself and she was a prisoner.

DEMONSTRATION OF A. B. Gas Ranges

We have arranged with the makers of the famous A. B. Gas Ranges to have an expert demonstrator with all this week. You will learn how easily and economically cooking can be done with gas and how much more satisfactorily than by using coal. Every point will be explained and you are urged to ask all the questions you wish.

These Are Gas Savers

After an investigation of various makes we have decided on the A. B. as best. The beautiful enamel finish needs no blacking, and it is a simple matter to keep every part clean. It bakes, roasts, broils and cooks perfectly. The extra large oven, conveniently placed, is only one point of superiority.

Miss Ida Barnes, State's principal witness, and "Silent Gene" Wood, man held for the grand jury, accused of slaying Howard W. Peaslee, wealthy toymaker, at Henniker, N. H.

Wood. He will claim that the Barnes household lived a dread of Wood for months. On this line, Mr. Barnes, father of Miss Barnes, says: "It was a wonder Wood was not shot at our home. It is a wonder Ida herself was not a victim."

Mrs. Barnes says: "Last night, after Wood was safe in jail, was the first night I had slept for weeks." Mrs. Gogod, it will be claimed, had good reasons for enmity against Wood. Mrs. Gogod, said her husband, Clarence, for divorce, September 12, 1912. Since then she has worked for Peaslee, the murdered man, in the toy factory. Her husband is in Pittsburgh and has written her counsel, through his attorney, that he will ask a settlement of the divorce out, and if this cannot be accomplished, will file a cross libel. Henniker gossip has connected with the name of Mrs. Gogod both the names of Wood and of Peaslee.

Mrs. Peaslee said today: "Our difference was purely financial."

WHOLE BUSINESS LETTER.

It was learned today that the letter Peaslee was writing, which lay on the table before him when his dead body was found, was purely a business proposition—a letter to a Mrs. Rega, relative to the renting of a two-family house. It was further learned today that Peaslee originally got Wood in his job at the Barnes farm, where his alleged infatuation for Miss Barnes had its beginning. Morrison Peaslee went to Concord today to ask appointment as administrator of the estate of his father, so that he can open his father's safe and search for a will. Mr. Peaslee is a few months ago phoned making a new will but it is not known whether he did so.

Those friends of Wood who declare his innocence believe that through his counsel he furnished the evidence which started the surveillance of the new suspect.

WOODS' LAWYER TALKS.

"The thing about this," said Attorney Joseph A. Donigan, counsel for Wood, today, "is that the authorities grabbed the first man on whom suspicion fell and the State has worked up a case against him. Neither they nor anyone else is able to prove Wood was the scene of the crime and that is what they will have to prove. The evidence is weak, almost futile, one might say, aside from the victim of Ida Barnes."

Miss Barnes was the chief witness at the hearing at Bradford. She told a clear story of the relationship between the Barnes family, Peaslee and Wood. She said that "Wood was a rascally man, and that he had been trouble with him during the summer, but that in the early fall he got cross and commenced to drink and sweat at his father as well as at her."

Before the Wood had about an interest in her, and while with her one night he told her that he had more for one of her old shoes than for any other woman in America.

MISS BARNES STORY.

"I told him," said Miss Barnes, "that I did not care what he thought of the shoes but that I did not want to have him go further with the same proposition."

Some time after that Wood, in again referring to the matter, said to Miss Barnes that he would like to speak, but knew that she would not listen.

Miss Barnes said that Wood frequently showed his dislike for Peaslee, both before and after her refusal of his advances. Speaking of the annoyances to which she had been subjected by Wood, Miss Barnes said:

"Peaslee came to the barn in the late fall with a load of eelgrass. It was between 7 and 8 in the evening, and I went to the barn and held a lantern while he was eelgrassing. At that time Wood was in the leaves under the barn listening to the conversation."

"Later in the season Peaslee came to the house to get some seeds. While we were there we heard a rattle in the haymow, and on returning to the house I took a station at a window, where I could see if there was anyone prowling about. After about fifteen minutes I saw a man emerge from a door under the porch and pass out through the haymow, and when we got to the highway, he passed under the electric light beside the road I recognized Wood."

QUOTES "CROOKED WORK."

"Some time later," as Peaslee was leaving the house, I had some more talk about Wood, which was started by Peaslee, who asked me how the man was doing and if he was making me any more trouble. I told him that he was, and then he recommended that I discharge him, saying that he was no good anyway. I told him I did not want to do that, as I did not desire trouble."

"At this point we were interrupted by the violent barking of the dog as it ran toward the henhouse in the darkness."

"The next day Wood repeated the whole conversation to me and said he didn't like it. 'It was crooked work,' he said, 'and I was behind his back,' he declared."

"Wood carried a revolver and about half-a-dozen knives made by himself from files, one of which was double edged. One night he came home intoxicated and asked me to go out in the shed with him while he got some stuff from his cupboard. I carried the lantern and when we got to the shed he opened the cupboard and put the knife into his pocket."

"We went back to the house one of the knives whistled by my head and stuck in the floor just in front of me."

"What did you mean by that?" I asked.

"His reply was that he would not harm a hair of my head, but that when he met the right party he would do business and do it right."

"At this point the black-hand note was placed in evidence and was not

SUES PLATONIC SENATOR FINDS FRIEND TO GET BRITAIN MASKS BACK PRESENTS LOBBY ON TOLLS

Presents of a $500 diamond ring and numerous sums of money figured in the testimony of a suit brought by Samuel Plummer of Portland, Me., against Mrs. Catherine O'Brien of No. 424 Tremont street, which was heard by Judge Duff. The ring and the money was given to Mrs. Maude Staples, Mrs. O'Brien's daughter.

Plummer, in his testimony, declared that his friendship for Mrs. Staples was only platonic. Plummer claims by his suit that he made a loan of $500 to Mrs. O'Brien. She contends that the plaintiff made a gift of money to her daughter in order that the latter might purchase a diamond ring.

Mrs. Staples has been married twice, according to the evidence, and has lived in Augusta, Yarmouth and Portland, Me., and lately in Boston with her mother, and now lives in Newbury street. She is a very attractive young woman of about twenty. After she had finished her testimony she became faint and had to leave the courtroom.

She testified that Mr. Plummer had made many gifts of money amounting to hundreds of dollars to her. She did not know that he was married at first, she said.

Plummer said he loaned the money to the mother and had not given it to the daughter, although he admitted that he had made gifts to her.

Will Pays $50 Debt to Ease Maker's Mind

OREGON, N. Y., May 27.—Henry P. Kingman of Oregon, had no counting to him today for a thirty-two-year-old son from the estate of Ralph Borden, who, just before his death, was moved by his conscience to leave a will settling with Kingman, Borden wrote.

"I bequeath to Henry P. Kingman, $50 in settlement of a bill he claims I owe, which I doubt, but prefer to have paid to ease my conscience."

Continuing her testimony Miss Barnes said that Wood frequently used the expression, "crooked work." She introduced an order for seeds written by the O'Brien family in poses of comparison. In her opinion the note and the order were in the same handwriting. She said that Wood was handy with pen and pencil and that his writing was good.

The cold fact that the probable cause had been shown and ordered Wood's commitment without bail.

FILE MANTIR AND DELOREY PARDON PLEAS

Counsel for James Mantir and Peter Delorey, the young men sent to the Charleston State Prison three years ago for the killing of Annie Mullins, expect to file with Governor Walsh today petitions for the pardon of their clients.

New evidence discovered by Attorneys McDonald and Moroney is expected to have great weight when the pardon petitions are considered. The nature of this evidence is still a closely guarded secret.

When the petitions are filed with the Governor, it will be the first definite step in the campaign waged by District Attorney William J. Corcoran of Middlesex County, and the prisoners' counsel, to prove that the two young men are innocent.

"NATIONAL HERO SERIES" NO. 3

KOSCIUSKO

"THE GREATEST OF THE POLES"

NEVER in the history of mankind has there lived a more ardent lover of Personal and National Liberty. He fought with intrepid valor under our own Washington for American Liberty. He devoted his life to regain the ancient freedom of his beloved Poland. Kosciusko hated any legislative attempt which invaded the Natural Rights of Man. If he were alive to-day, every son of Poland knows that he would revolt at any LAW which declared: "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that." Kosciusko knew that the light wines of his native land and the barley brews of Germany were good for mankind when used in moderation. He drank them himself to the end of his honored days, and who will DARE say that they in any way injured this mighty personality. For 57 years Heuser-Busch have honestly brewed honest beers. Their great brand—BUDWEISER—is sold throughout the world and has helped the cause of true Temperance. Seven thousand, five hundred men are daily required to keep pace with the natural demand of Americans for BUDWEISER. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles. Bottled only at the home plant.

GIL SINGING HOE PAID $1000 FOR USE OF BABY

NEW YORK, May 27.—Mrs. A. Sullivan, the brown-eyed girl of twenty, who is suing Arthur L. Hoe, son of the multi-millionaire printing press manufacturer, for $25,000 damages in a breach of promise action, fainting during cross-examination before a jury and justice (today). Mrs. Hoe's wife was present. She confessed in tears she had once hired a baby for fifteen minutes to make another woman think it was her child, paying $1000 for the use of the infant.

She charged Hoe, the defendant, with "cheating her into unconsciousness" in her apartment.

She insisted he had told her he would divorce his wife and marry her. After she had learned that he could not keep his alleged promise of marriage without first applying to the divorce court.

TELLS OF SING HOE.

Kels and tears, punctuating the plaintiff's snappy replies, marked the course of her recital. When the ordeal had lasted for almost six hours, Mrs. Sullivan begged Justice Gaven to permit her to leave the court and regain her composure. She was refused until tomorrow morning.

"Did you ever call on Mrs. Glanberg in the Bronx with the baby?" asked Attorney Hamilton.

"I did, but it was only a Hamilton's objection kept the explanation off the record."

"And did you pay Mrs. Dally $1000 for the use of the baby?"

"I said Mrs. Dally $1000 for the use of the baby for one afternoon. I didn't have the baby at the Glanberg home for more than fifteen minutes."

"And did you tell Mrs. Glanberg that William A. Hoe was the father of this baby and you were the mother?"

Mrs. Sullivan reluctantly admitted she had done so and that "HMP" was not baby, but Burr.

BABY "A LITTLE PEACH"

In another letter to Mrs. Glanberg, Mrs. Sullivan referred to the baby as "a little peach" and said "the little cat has three teeth."

Oh, it was all a joke, said the witness, and she had told Mrs. Glanberg that it was married to Burr, the brother of Mr. Hoe. The fact is that it was never married to Mr. Hoe, and I have never been married to anybody and have never had a baby."

Her former maid, Lola Hodges, testified that Mrs. Sullivan was "just heartless" and had been once seen in a rooming house near the City Hall, where she was told her the maid counted the money "until she was too tired" and then gave up the task.

No. 24 Attention, Mayor Curley.

If you had made as good a contract for the people of Boston with the Electric Light Company as the city of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, made with its Electric Light Company, Boston would have about one million thirteen thousand dollars during the period of the contract which you wish to fast upon Boston. This great sum, saved by the city, would give more than ONE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY WORKMEN A FULL YEAR'S EMPLOYMENT.

Would you have elected Mayor Mr. Curley, if you had told the people of Boston that you considered the Boston Electric Light Company more sacred than the bread and butter of the clerks, the laborers, the police, the firemen, the nurses, the matrons employed by the city, whom you have reduced or discharged, or more sacred than the pleasure and health which the citizens obtain from their parks and public buildings which your FALSE economy tends to cripple?

What is the result of bold, reckless, and unscrupulous dealing with the people of Boston? The result is that the city of Boston is now in a financial straits, and the people are suffering from the result of the city's financial straits.

SUCH IS LIFE

Yet McReynolds holds this position. He also holds the position of Attorney-General. The two ought to be incompatible, but President Wilson, by retaining him in office, endorses the McReynolds idea. The prompt dismissal of McReynolds and appointment of Folk in his place is the one act that could thoroughly purge the administration of any taint of sympathy for the New Haven and other railroad looters.

your friends or the community at large, lay that medal away in the same place for your children to admire.
